MORE TEXTILE WORKERS MAY JOIN WALKOUT

Executive Empowered to Call Out Another 100,000 Workers in Few Days

ARMY OF STRIKE IDLE INCREASES BY 20,000

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP).—A 30,000 increase in the army of strike idle, despite an unrelenting drive to reopen Southern textile mills, was revealed by an independent survey today as labor leaders arranged to expand the great walkout to all branches of the industry within a week. This brings the total to 421,000 persons.

The central strike committee of the United Textile Workers was voted authority by that organization's executive council to call out at its discretion some 100,000 workers in hitherto unaffected textile divisions. Leaders declared they would do so by Monday at the latest.

MUNITIONS SALES GAIN
Meanwhile, a manufacturer of machine-guns and tear gas and nausaea bombs told the United States Senate committee investigating the sale of munitions that his business had jumped between 5 and 10 per cent since the strike began. All shipments had the approval of local authorities, he said, and none went to strikers.

Francis J. Gorman, national strike leader, indicated that a new strike call—affecting operatives in ruga, rayon, knit goods, dyeing and synthetic yarns—would go out in a few days, to become effective Monday, although there was a possibility the workers involved would be called out sooner.

PETITION REJECTED
At NRA a petition from the Silk Textile Code authority for a public hearing on labor's complaints in that branch of the industry was rejected.

Minor disturbances with ensuing minor injuries developed in several Pennsylvania mill towns, but elsewhere the strike front was quiet.

NEW MARKETING RULES DRAFTED

Attorney-General Sloan Revising Regulations Under B.C. Statute

Regulations under the Natural Products Marketing Act of British Columbia have been drafted tentatively, and are now under review by Attorney-General Sloan. It is expected the new draft will be announced in a few days' time. Work of checking the wording of a voluminous list of regulations was commenced yesterday.

Imperative without express regulations, the British Columbia marketing law will be brought into full effect when the coming rules are appended. It is unofficially understood the regulations may pave the way for registration by the Province of those dealing with natural products within the meaning of the act.

LICENSING POWERS
The question of licensing or revocation of licences was clarified, yesterday, in a provincial explanation which said that commodity boards set up equally under Federal and provincial powers will ultimately have this authority, coupled with wide powers of regulation among producers in controlled areas. Just how wide these powers will be remains to be set out.

A tree-fruit board in the Okanagan, and milk boards in the Fraser Valley and on the southern end of Vancouver Island are expected to be among the first control schemes to get started. Preparations to that end are under way, after considerable negotiation both here and at Ottawa.

Seeking to Avoid Strike of Miners

LONDON, Sept. 18 (CP-Havas).—Proposals and counter-proposals were being studied tonight by miners and pit owners in an effort to avert a threatening strike of 130,000 Welsh miners.

A conference at Cardiff attempting to settle the differences adjourned until Wednesday to examine suggested terms. The miners demand wage increases. A 20 per cent increase recorded since 1915 has in reality been a sharp cut in view of a 42 per cent rise in the cost of living, they claim.

BANDITS RAID BANK

SCOTLAND, Pa., Sept. 18 (AP).—Four heavily-armed bandits held up a bank at Hawley, Wayne County, Pa., today, and escaped. State police reaching the scene were informed the bandits took $3,500 in cash.

Loses Decision in Tree-Climbing Contest With Bear Cub

PRINCE RUPERT, Sept. 18 (CP).—George Olson, of Skidegate, tried his tree-climbing ability against that of a bear cub and lost the decision. He is in the hospital here suffering from a fractured leg and other injuries. Olson shot and wounded the cub, then pursued it after he had run out of ammunition. Finally he followed the bear up a tree and attempted to club it from its perch. He failed and fell. The cub disappeared.

TO REST WITH PRESBYTERIES

Must Decide Concerning Ordination of Women in United Church

KINGSTON, Ont., Sept. 18 (CP).—Sponsored by Very Rev. E. H. Oliver, Saskatoon, former moderator of the United Church of Canada, commissioners to the general council decided to place the whole matter of the ordination of women before the Presbyteries of the church.

Following the decision of the law and legislation committee that the proposed ordination of Miss Lydia Gruchy, Kelvington, Sask., by the Saskatchewan conference, would not be legal, as the constitution of the church recognized only a male ministry, Dr. Oliver spoke at length. He moved that the council refer the question through the Presbyteries to the executive of the general council in a remit, which will require the answer "yes" or "no," to be prepared by the regional committee on law and legislation. The resolution was carried without opposition.

CLARA BUTT ILL AGAIN

LONDON, Sept. 18 (CP).—Dame Clara Butt, whose wonderful contralto and magnificent presence made her the idol of concert-goers for many years, is again seriously ill here with spinal trouble. During her last Australian tour some months ago, she had to be carried to the boat which brought her back to England.

Endeavour Makes It Two Up Against Rainbow for America's Cup

LEADS ALL THE WAY OVER THE TRIANGLE

NEWPORT, R.I., Sept. 18 (CP).—T. O. M. Sopwith made it two straight today for Endeavour and the Royal Yacht Squadron in the epic battle now being waged off Brenton's Reef with Harold Vanderbilt, the white-hulled defending Rainbow and the New York Club for possession of the America's Cup. If Sopwith wins but two more races he will take the 100-guinea cup back to Cowes in the Isle of Wight for the first time in eighty-three years. Indications tonight were that he would succeed where fourteen British challengers, including two Canadians, had failed.

Pirates Kill Japanese on River Steamer

TOKIO, Sept. 18 (AP).—Four Japanese officials of the Manchukuo Government were killed and their bodies thrown into the river today in the pirating of the steamer Yingkow, said dispatches from Harbin to the newspaper Asahi. The piracy occurred in the waters of the Amur River between places where the Urruri and the Sungari Rivers flow into it. Chinese aboard the Yingkow escaped in junk, carrying off 30,000 yen in cash, with a Manchukuo Government gunboat in pursuit, said the dispatches.

Stevens Intends to See Probe on Price Spreads Completed

Minister to Press Inquiry in Effort to Find Remedy—Says Differences With Prime Minister Imagined and Concocted

TORONTO, Sept. 18 (CP).—An appeal to the citizens of Canada, instead of business heads because they "would not listen" to him, to help solve economic difficulties, was laid before a mass meeting here tonight by Hon. H. H. Stevens, Minister of Trade and Commerce in the Dominion Government. Speaking in support of T. L. Church, Conservative candidate in the East Toronto by-election, Mr. Stevens went deeply into the causes that brought about the price spread and mass buying probe. He reviewed the trend of economic conditions during the past decade and scored organizations—chain stores, packing firms and tobacco companies—that formed corporate mergers to the detriment of the people.

Mr. Stevens held definite hope

Gain Shown in B.C. Lumber Operations Is Holding Steady

FIGURES for the provincial log scale for eight months this year, at 1,397,000,000 board feet, indicated a 35 per cent increase in lumber business, compared to operations in a like period last year, provincial officials indicated yesterday. The scale in August was 206,000,000 board feet, as against 169,000,000 board feet in a like month in 1933.

TAKES SEAT IN ASSEMBLY

Russia Formally Enters League—Litvinoff Pledges Russia for Peace

GENEVA, Sept. 18 (CP).—Russia, tonight, formally entered the League of Nations. In the glare of powerful electric lights and to the click of camera shutters, Maxim Litvinoff, the Soviet Foreign Commissar, mounted the speaker's tribune and, in Russia's first bow to the family of nations, pledged co-operation for world peace.

It was one of the League's great days. A queue lined up outside the entrances to the public galleries. Special police forces were on guard. The hall was packed, and as time wore on and the heat increased, pangs became fluttering fans.

TWO VOTES TAKEN

Two votes were taken. On the question of Russian admission, thirty-nine states voted in favor, eleven more than the necessary majority of two-thirds. Three votes were against—Switzerland, Portugal and Holland. Seven did not vote.

On the next vote, to grant Russia a permanent seat on the League Council, forty voted in favor and ten abstained. President Richard Sandler then, with cordial words of welcome, invited Russia's delegation to take their seats. There was some cheering and hand-clapping as Litvinoff mounted the tribune, and began Russia's first speech in the League Assembly. He spoke of the early history of the Soviet Union, of the foreign powers attempted to destroy it. From this arose Russia's early hostility to the League, he said.

NO FEATURES RENOUNCED
"The Soviet Union," declared Litvinoff, "is entering the League today as representative of a new social and economic system, not renouncing any of its special features, and like other nations represented in the League, preserving its individuality."

Thousands of Refugees Flee From Yellow River—Others Take Refuge in High Spots

TAOKOW, China, Sept. 18 (AP).—A stream of bedraggled refugees from the region flooded by the Yellow River, their homes and livelihoods destroyed, poured into Taokow today. Government officials were considering a drastic proposal to transfer many of the refugees from the river valley to unsettled territories in Szechuan Province for rehabilitation.

It was reported that thousands, clustered together like frightened sheep, still occupy high spots in the Yellow River Valley. Some still live in tree-tops.

The walled city of Changyuan has become an island.

It was estimated that 70,000 are homeless at Yutien, in Honan Province.

Elected Primate of Church of England

RT. REV. DERWYN T. OWEN

BISHOP of Toronto, yesterday was chosen Primate of the Church of England in Canada, succeeding the late Most Rev. Clarendon L. Worrell, Archbishop of Halifax.

Hitler Now Overlord of The Church

STUTTGART, Germany, Sept. 18 (AP).—Chancellor Hitler caused publication of a statement tonight which made plain that he has assumed the functions of a church overlord, whose opinions are to be considered in a final setting aside of the church constitution, if necessary.

The statement concerned the appointment of Bishop Kraus as Bishop of Wuertemberg in place of Theophil Wurm, who was removed recently by Reichsbishop Ludwig Mueller.

CHURCH NAMES NEW PRIMATE

Bishop Owen, of Toronto, Elected Head of Church of England in Canada

MONTREAL, Sept. 18 (CP).—The desire for a young and vigorous leader in the Church of England, in Canada, found expression today in the choice of Rt. Rev. Derwyn Trevor Owen, Bishop of Toronto, as Primate. At the age of fifty-eight, he succeeds Most Rev. Clarendon L. Worrell, Archbishop of Halifax, who died a few weeks ago.

According to the canons of the church, the new Primate becomes Archbishop of Toronto, and Toronto will continue to be his see city. He has been a bishop for nine years, having been elected Bishop of Niagara in 1925 and translated to the Diocese of Toronto in 1932. He will be installed as Primate of all Canada tomorrow.

VOTE TAKEN IN PRIVATE

The voting was conducted behind closed doors, but it is understood the election was accomplished on about the sixth or seventh ballot. Most Rev. A. U. de Pencier, Archbishop of New Westminster, continued tonight as president of the synod as the report of the council for social service came under review. Archbishop Owen, tomorrow, will assume the presidency.

POST TO BE FILLED

A motion by Rev. J. F. Morris, Montreal, that a general secretary be appointed for the social service council was approved. Rev. Canon C. W. Vernon, a native of Halifax, who served at Toronto for many years as general secretary, died early this year.

THREE OF DUTCH HOUSE ARRESTED

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, Sept. 18 (AP).—Three Communist members of parliament who shouted insults after Queen Wilhelmina had finished her speech from the throne were arrested and jailed today as an infuriated crowd tried to get at them.

Police, fearing an outbreak of violence as the temper of the throng about the Parliament Buildings grew in hostility, led the men to prison by a secret route. It was the first time in the history of the Netherlands that members of parliament were arrested in the course of a session. They were released later.

Rainfall Adds Gloom to Picture of Desolation After Devastating Fire Razes Alaskan Town—Drunk and Frightened Eskimos Roam About Ruins—Making Plans to Rebuild

NOME, Alaska, Sept. 18 (AP).—Desolated by the worst fire in Alaska's glamorous history, Nome again was a camp tonight, with hundreds of its inhabitants housed in temporary shelters. Rain began to fall late in the day, to add to the wan picture of ruins and desolation, but the thermometer mounted to forty-four degrees from the freezing point it touched before daybreak.

Every building in town except the Government wireless station, one hospital, a section of waterfront warehouse and a few residences in the northern part of the municipality lay in smoking ruins.

NO PRESSURE FOR DEFAULT

Government Denies Any Attempt to Enforce Debt Adjustment in Cities

"The Government has not advocated default, and there is no truth in the statement we have tried to force any municipality to default," Hon. John Hart said yesterday, in an official statement issued by the Government after a meeting of the Provincial Executive. Acting as spokesman for the Ministry on the question of debt adjustment in some municipal areas, Mr. Hart dealt with an advertisement published over the name of the B.C. Bond Dealers' Association in Saturday issues of Coast papers.

"The statements are not correct. The Finance Department has received wires from three financial houses in Toronto stating their names were attached to the advertisement without their knowledge," Mr. Hart declared.

Premier Pattullo and other members of the Government rested on the statement made by Mr. Hart, and declined to add anything to an incident now regarded as closed. Meanwhile, the notice to the bond holders in respect to Burnaby, North Vancouver City and North Vancouver District stands unchanged.

Takes Wild Ride Down Steep Hill

NORTH VANCOUVER, Sept. 18 (CP).—C. H. Butterfield is safe today after a wild ride down Lonsdale hill in a runaway automobile, but four cars are badly damaged as the result of the accident. Butterfield was driving his car down the steep incline when he lost control and the vehicle ran wild for more than two blocks, finally coming to rest when it crashed into three other cars parked at an intersection. Butterfield escaped with only slight injuries.

Bomb Blasts Are Answer to Decree

HAVANA, Sept. 18 (AP).—The Cabinet approved tonight a new public order decree to tighten up on Cuban terrorism, and got an immediate loud answer in bomb explosions all over Havana. More than thirty blasts were counted, starting in the Vedado section of the city, while the Cabinet was still in session. None caused serious damage, but two persons were injured, not seriously.

Pupils of Two Big Montreal Schools On Protest Strike

Walkout Staged Because of Increase in Fees—Board Has No Intention of Taking Action Against 1,500 Students

MONTREAL, Sept. 18 (CP).—The old game of hockey was played on the grand scale here today when about 1,500 pupils from two schools controlled by the Board of Protestant School Commissioners, banged their desks shut and staged a walkout as a protest against an increase in fees which went into effect at the opening of the present school term a few weeks ago.

Striking pupils are those of the Baron Byrd and Commercial High Schools.

Officials of the board were not perturbed at the turn of events. Their attitude was that if the pupils did not want to learn, it was their misfortune. No action would decrease of revenues.

SOLD ARMS TO CUBAN LEADERS

Maker of Munitions in U.S. Dealt With Every Government for Years

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18 (AP).—The powerful influence that a United States munitions maker wielded in Cuban affairs was told today by a Senate committee through documents and the somewhat reluctant testimony of the arms dealer himself—John W. Young, of Pittsburgh.

Young is president of Federal Laboratories, Inc., manufacturers of and dealer in gas bombs, sub-machine guns and other war material.

SOLD TO ALL GOVERNMENTS

The Senate munitions committee was told that Young's company has sold to every Government that has ruled in Cuba within the past few years. Evidence portrayed Young as advising leaders of the present regime in Cuba at a time when the Grau San Martin Government was still ostensibly in power. A series of letters, supplemented by testimony from Young and Frank S. Jonas, Federal Laboratories' representative in Cuba, showed that the concern has had dealings in the island republic for years.

NOME TAKES SHAPE OF MINING CAMP

put out of commission, did not stop the raging blast.

Appalled by the destruction but bravely facing the future, citizens of Nome took the first steps toward rebuilding.

Early this morning, temporary restaurants and stores were set up to care for the needs of citizens many of whom lost all their belongings. The fire had been completely extinguished.

The fate of courthouse records was uncertain, as smoke was arising from the vault, but the records were believed safe, although the outside of the bank vault was still too hot to permit investigation.

Work of cleaning up the debris in streets and building sites already was begun. Court was held in temporary quarters.

PREVIOUS DISASTERS
Once before, in 1905, Nome was ravaged by fire, although the damage was not so extensive then as now. Nineteen years ago a tidal storm destroyed much waterfront property.

Founded by a group of adventurers who settled on the beach in 1898, Nome first was called Anvil City. After the strike had brought 20,000 gold seekers to the scene the name was changed to avoid confusion with the nearby settlement of Anvik. The population dwindled to 1,200 in 1932, but higher gold prices had swelled it to about 1,500 at the time of the fire.

It was pointed out that, in addition to the approximately 1,500 persons who live in Nome the 5,000 others, in Sishmare, Deering, Teller, Keweenaw, Candor, Baldwin, Kotzebue and a great area populated by miners and prospectors, who are dependent on Nome for their supplies.

Thus, when they enter the armed forces, they can dedicate themselves exclusively to warlike professional and specialized training in arms.

THE MILITARY SPIRIT
Post-military training, said the council, is "to keep alive in the reservists the military spirit and the devotion to the regiment and to keep men of the specialized division, instructed in the use of new materials and tactics."

In addition to the foregoing, the council decided on the institution of courses in military culture in all high schools and colleges.

MONTREAL, Sept. 18 (CP).—The pound eased on Montreal currency exchanges today. Sterling lost 1-8 at 4.85. The U.S. dollar was at a discount of 2 31-32 per cent and the franc was quoted at 64 cents.

NELSON, B.C., Sept. 18 (CP).—Eight of eleven Doukhobors arrested for failing to fight forest fires, were today sentenced to a fine of $25, or to serve one month's imprisonment. Three, who produced doctors' certificates, were dismissed.

They appeared before Stipendiary Magistrate John Cartmel. Five more have been arrested on similar charges and have been remanded to next Monday.

Premier Will Open Attractive Fair at Saanichton Today

Vegetables, Flowers and Household Arts Unusually Fine Exhibits at Annual North and South Saanich Exhibition—Quality of Fruit Good

THE rendezvous of all Saanich today will be the Agricultural Fair Grounds, Saanichton, where the sixty-sixth annual Fall exhibition of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society will be formally opened at 2 o'clock by Premier Pattullo.

In addition to the magnificent display of livestock, fruit, vegetables, women's household arts, children's work and school exhibits, and the Indian section, there will be a very fine programme of school sports and Highland dancing, and piping. Since last year's fair, new cattle sheds have been built at the west side of the Exhibition Hall, and judging of the horses and cattle will take place in the enclosure there instead of in the main field.

ATTRACTION SHOW
All hall exhibits were in place yesterday, and viewed from the balcony, the display was extraordinarily attractive. A long table down the middle of the Exhibition Hall is a mass of flowers; flanking it at right and left, respectively, are the tables with the vegetables and field crops, and the tables with the fruit, household arts exhibits and grains and grasses.

The west end of the hall is filled this year with an interestingly interesting display by the Dominion Experimental Farm, a conspicuous feature being the three luminous-colored photographs of sections of the farm: a grain field, a field of daffodils, a field of sweet peas.

On the table beneath are shown examples of the result of anapogon rust, apple anthracnose, celery blight, blight on spuds, peach-leaf curl, walnut blight, onion mildew, mildew on peas and onions, and bottles of the solutions recommended for the curing of these pests.

At the southeast end of the hall is the Indian exhibit, smaller this year, owing to the fact that most of the Indian people have been called to the front of the line, and of excellent quality. Mrs. Underwood's pie and cake; Louisa Jimmy's beaded belt and beaded pouch; two canvas "wall-pockets," made by a native Indian, and a needlework, carved and painted baseball bat, the work of Dan Brown, of Nanaimo, will be noticed in this collection.

SCHOOL EXHIBITS
In the balcony is the school exhibit, photographs and needlework. Chiefly because of the phenomenon of hand-quilted bedspreads, the needlework section is outstanding, and from a woman's standpoint would make the fair well worth a visit. Five of these beautiful hand-made quilts are non-competitive, being the work of Mrs. Skinner, of Sidney. The remaining seven, which vie with each other in the quality of design and fine stitching, include one made by the sixteen to eighteen-year-old girls of the Willing Workers Sunday school class of West Road Baptist Church. There is also a French bouquet quilt, which is very pretty, and one utilizing the marvelous "flower-garden" pattern. Suspended round the gallery walls these twelve quilts are highly decorative.

Photography, in charge of C. Frame, includes a nice loan exhibit of thirty-four pictures, sent in by the Pictorial Photographers, of Victoria. The quality of fruit and vegetables is, on the whole, very high this year. Although it was more difficult than usual to find perfect specimens of apples, exhibitors seem to have succeeded, and nothing better has been shown in the past than the prize-winning "best plate of apples in the show," a glowing collection of the Winter banana variety sent in by W. D. Michell & Son. For size, plus quality, another conspicuously fine entry is W. J. H. Benson's plate of five magnificent specimens of the Wolf River variety apple.

E. M. Straight, of the Experimental Farm, Sidney, was followed by an interested group of exhibitors as he went about his work of judging the field crop section, with the assistance of his microscope, pointing out some of the flaws which subtracted marks. J. A. Nunn, in charge of the vegetable exhibits, was particularly pleased with the onions grown in the district this year, saying that the crop was the best for ten seasons, owing to the dry summer. The piece de resistance of this table, in the spectacular sense, is the fifty-nine-pound pumpkin.

FLOWER SECTION
The flower display is a great credit to the district and much better than last year's. Zinnias, pansies, stocks, late nasturtiums, and every variety of dahlias make a splendid show. There are even several bowls of roses, A. M. Scott's entry winning first prize. Elders have a gorgeous non-competitive display of dahlias, including the show variety, also the chrysanthemum and miniature varieties, and G. Wardell, of Sidney, has a non-competitive display of gladioli that makes a fine splash of color against the south wall.

The household arts section is always an important part of the Saanich Fair, and Mrs. Gordon and Mrs. Raven, judges respectively of the bottled fruits and breads and pastry, found competition very keen.

DRIVE FOR NEW MEMBERS BEGUN

Victoria Branch of Canadian Pensioners' Association Seeks to Strengthen Roster

A campaign for membership has been opened by the Canadian Pensioners' Association, it was announced yesterday, by M. C. McPhail, president of the Victoria branch.

The campaign will be conducted among those ex-servicemen entitled to belong to the organization, that is to say, all ex-servicemen who are in receipt of a pension for wounds or illness incurred during the Great War.

The chief objective of this organization is to take up the adjustment of pensions, treatment of disabilities, hospitalization, and to safeguard the interests of widows and other dependents of those who were killed in action.

HAMBONE'S MEDITATIONS

By Alley

A go-getting fellow, a stem-winding, whirlwind producer can get away with a great deal while the ordinary fellow cannot, say a number of employment managers.

One thing that few employers will tolerate in their employees who must meet the public, is halitosis (bad breath). It's a bad start for the man, a bad one for the company. The man who has it usually walks out the back door with a past, while the man who hasn't comes in the front door with a future.

Very few people escape halitosis. In all mouths fermentation of tiny food particles, skipped by the tooth brush, goes on. Fermentation causes a number of distinct odors.

Listerine halts fermentation at once, takes your breath away then gets rid of the objectionable odors it causes. Its deodorant and cleansing powers are simply amazing. Literally millions of people have proved it again and again. No fastidious person should be without it.

When Listerine costs so little, isn't it wise to use it daily and thus avoid offending others? Keep a bottle handy in home and office. You will be delighted to find how many doors it opens. LAMBERT PHARMACEUTICAL COMPANY, Toronto, Ont.

MINING AUTHORITIES FROM OTTAWA CONFER WITH LOCAL OFFICIALS

With an enthusiastic report of increased mining throughout Canada, A. H. A. Robertson, mining engineer of the Department of Mines at Ottawa, and W. H. Loece, head of the chemical, mining and metallurgical division of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, arrived in Victoria yesterday, to confer with officials of the Provincial Department of Mines. The visitors are staying at the Empress Hotel, and will leave on this afternoon's boat for Vancouver.

En route west, they attended the annual meeting of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgy, that was held recently at Calgary.

DRAIN SYSTEM NEARLY READY

Portion Already in Use More Than Meets Requirements at Burial Park

Work on the installation of a twenty-inch drain, running the full length of the Royal Oak Burial Park, is drawing to completion, and already has proven of great advantage in the development of the Memorial Park, officials of the board of trustees announced yesterday.

Feeder mains have been installed leading into the big main, and this system, supplementing the other, far exceeds the maximum requirement, it was stated.

Grading the edges of the roadway also have been installed, and an inspection made by the trustees revealed that the run-off was excellent. The park, they stated, was in a splendid condition, and with the many improvements carried out this year has created considerable comment.

Two new flower beds have been installed in the newly opened Section C, while the gorgeous displays of flowers in the two new beds at the entrance was commented upon most markedly when the Fall flowers came into bloom.

The new section, which is now being graded, is expected to be ready for seeding in six or eight weeks' time. Old stumps are being pulled out, brush cleared up and the ground generally prepared for the laying of a lawn.

DRIVE FOR NEW MEMBERS BEGUN

Victoria Branch of Canadian Pensioners' Association Seeks to Strengthen Roster

A campaign for membership has been opened by the Canadian Pensioners' Association, it was announced yesterday, by M. C. McPhail, president of the Victoria branch.

The campaign will be conducted among those ex-servicemen entitled to belong to the organization, that is to say, all ex-servicemen who are in receipt of a pension for wounds or illness incurred during the Great War.

The chief objective of this organization is to take up the adjustment of pensions, treatment of disabilities, hospitalization, and to safeguard the interests of widows and other dependents of those who were killed in action.

Two Victoria Boys Carve Out Success By Own Initiative

Left City for Gold Fields Where Placer Claim Provided Pleasure and Profit, Mingled With Plenty of Hard Work—Pioneers in New Age

HOW three British Columbia youths, two of them Victorians, solved the problem of unemployment for themselves by a display of courage and initiative ranking with pioneering times was learned here this week in an authenticated story from Cottonwood Creek. Charles "Chuck" Haddon, a Victoria boy they befriended, literally made their own jobs, prospecting.

All three are located on claims found and staked by Haddon and Allen at the southern end of Cottonwood Canyon, on the Fraser River, where they have made as much as $10 a shift this summer. Nineteen and twenty-one years of age, respectively, Haddon and Allen bought an old car in Victoria last Spring, made their way to Quesnel and Barkerville, where they gained experience by working for a hydraulic mining camp, and then struck off on their own up the Cottonwood Canyon.

They took wait with them, and set him up with a long tom, hand-operated, at another point, where he has made board and wages by his own efforts.

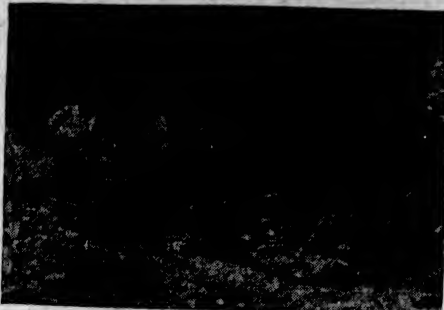

BUILT EQUIPMENT
On their own claim, the two youths erected sluices, washed by a pump, which they operate by a small gas engine. With this rig they have made wages and better, and in the best runs have cleared as much as $10 a shift, working two shifts daily.

They struck pay dirt on the bed of the creek, and developed their own plant out of old lumber, some of the work involving packing on a ten-mile trek through the bush from the nearest highway.

Haddon can truthfully say he made his first job. Allen, as a young married man who formerly ranched in the Horsefly area, located on the land later near Quesnel, and then joined Haddon in the present venture, which is working out a success.

MADE SUCCESS
In addition to their original claim, the two youths prospected further and have located other properties to which they propose to give more attention later. Start-

Using old boards, blankets, a second-hand gas engine and a great deal of courage, British Columbia youths have developed a successful placer claim at Cottonwood Canyon. OLD FRIGATE UP FOR SALE

H.M.S. Liffey Was Ship of the Line in the Days of Nelson

From Santiago, Chile, comes a romantic story concerning a famous British ship. A small advertisement in South American newspapers recently announced an "old hulk" for sale.

The "old hulk" turned out to be a British "wooden-walled" warship, dating back to the days of Nelson. She is the former H.M.S. Liffey, which for nearly a century has been a hulk riding at anchor at Mejillones Bay, to the north of the nitrate port of Antofagasta.

PROFITABLE INDUSTRY
The sale arises out of the liquidation of the old Coach nitrate combine. The Government commission which took charge of the liquidation decided that the hulk was of no more use to the industry and advertised it as "old wood" and "old iron." It is generally expected that the hulk will be bought in for the shipbreaker's yard. Shipbreaking has become a profitable industry on the modern Spanish Main.

H.M.S. Liffey came to Chile after serving as a proud ship of the line. She was captained by many of Nelson's favorite seamen. In the thirties it came to Chile and was made a storehouse at Coquimbo, where Great Britain based a formidable fleet, which it maintained in South Pacific waters for many years.

FLOATING OFFICE
When the squadron was reduced, the Liffey was sold out of the service and acquired by the old trading house of Antony Gibbs, one of the most powerful factors in the nitrate business of pre-combine days. Gibbs transferred the storehouse to Mejillones Bay, where it has remained ever since—a floating nitrate office within the "wooden walls" which saved England in Nelson's day.

The Liffey frigate figured in Kingston's story, "Paddy Finn."

W. S. Curry Found Dead in Room of Victoria Hotel

The dead body of William Samuel Curry, aged sixty-seven years, retired cattle rancher and farmer from Manitoba, who for the last twelve years made Victoria his home, was found in his room at the St. James Hotel, yesterday. Death was attributed to natural causes, and Coroner Dr. E. C. Hart announced there would be no inquest.

Mr. Curry's body was discovered by Russell McDonald, hotel employee, who summoned city police. Life was pronounced extinct by Dr. Hart.

Mr. Curry is survived by his widow and daughter in California.

The remains are resting at the Thomson Funeral Home, where the funeral will take place on Friday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock. Interment will be in Royal Oak Burial Park. Funeral services will be under auspices of Camosun Lodge, No. 60, A.F. and A.M.

MRS. LAUDERBACH OF LADYSMITH PASSES

LADYSMITH, Sept. 18.—The death occurred here, on Sunday, of one of the city's oldest pioneers, Mrs. Jessie Lauderbach, aged seventy years.

Mrs. Lauderbach came here, with her family, in the early years of the century, when settlement in the district was comparatively scattered. She had been ailing for a long time, and was discovered dead, in bed, by one of her neighbors, yesterday. Mrs. Lauderbach's daughter, Mrs. K. Hubbard, of Tucson, Arizona, had been visiting and looking after her mother for some time, but left only last week, for her home, under the impression that the invalid was improving.

Mrs. Lauderbach was predeceased by her husband, nearly two years ago. She is survived by two sons, Ernest and Wilfred, in California; a daughter, Mrs. K. Hubbard, of Arizona; four grandchildren, and a brother, P. Swan, in Kelowna.

Funeral arrangements are not completed, pending word from members of the family.

LAWRENCEVILLE, Ill., Sept. 18 (AP).—A fireman was killed and two other persons injured today, when the southbound Egyptian flyer on the Big Four railroad crashed into a large transport truck at a grade crossing.

Half Ounce of Gold to Ton Shown in Samples Assayed Here, Says Minister

Hon. George S. Pearson issued the following statement yesterday, in regard to a strike on a Vancouver Island claim near Nanossee, reported in a Canadian press dispatch previously:

"My attention has been directed to a statement appearing in the press today, that a rich gold strike has been made at Nanossee, Vancouver Island, ore taken from the same being said to have shown five ounces of gold to the ton.

"From the data before me, which has reference to a mining prospect in this locality, there would seem to be a doubt as to the accuracy of this report. Certain samples were submitted to the Provincial assayer for treatment, and his certificates issued on the 10th and 15th instant give the following results:

SAMPLES TAKEN
"Sample No. 1: Gold, 50 ounces per ton; silver, 15 ounces per ton; copper, 11 per cent per ton. Samples Nos. 2 and 3: These failed to give any values.

"It is felt that the facts should be made known, in order that it may be made clear that there is no occasion for undue excitement, but it is not the wish to create the impression that these prospects are without interest. There are indications, both on this property and on other nearby prospects, that the possibilities of the district justify prospecting."

Is Vexed Over Chinese Defeat

NANKING, China, Sept. 18 (AP).—A Foreign Office spokesman today said that the League of Nations' action in refusing to re-elect China to the League Council means that the League's trend "is becoming 100 per cent European." The spokesman asserted that the Chinese defeat "would be pleasing to the party which all along has defied that organ"—ostensibly Japan.

(From letter in Shell Oil Company files at San Francisco)

"My car used to get to that first steep part, then...ping...ping...ping. No matter what gas I used (other than premium Ethyl) I'd have to shift. I don't know why your gasoline should be so different, but using it yesterday there wasn't a sign of a knock. And I went the full 2 1/2 miles to the top in high."

How can one gasoline be so different from another? Here's why:

Any petroleum engineer will tell you that no two gasolines are exactly alike. Power, anti-knock, quick-starting, and other fractions can be blended in all sorts of proportions. And crudes vary. As do refining methods.

Super-SHELL differs from other fuels largely because of the way it is concentrated. Low-powered gassy "tops" and sluggish "bottoms" are removed. Only the heart cut of petroleum comes to you. No waste parts. The result is—Super-SHELL positively reduces at least ten little wastes that ordinary gasolines cause.

Fill up with Super-SHELL today. You may not notice so much difference in average driving—but when you need an extra ounce of power—you'll feel it. And by all means check your Super-SHELL mileage!

TO TAKE TRIAL WITHOUT JURY

J. William Maynard to Be Tried by Judge—Date to Be Fixed in October

In the County Court, here, yesterday, J. William Maynard elected speedy trial before a judge without a jury on the two charges that have been laid against him. It was agreed that the case should be set down for the October court sittings, when a date for the trial will be fixed.

A. J. Patton, counsel for the defence, after the election of the accused, asked for a little time before proceeding to trial, as there was considerable work in bookkeeping to be done in preparation for the case.

Cleave G. White, who appeared for the prosecution, as Crown counsel, asked that the case be brought on early in October.
The first charge is that of unlawfully and with intent to defraud, converting property to his own use while acting as an agent for J. R. Brown. The date of the alleged offence is set as September 7, 1932. The second charge is one of having failed to keep books of accounts in connection with the business as required by law.

FUNERAL TODAY

Funeral services for Mrs. Sarah Ann Saunders, who passed away at her home, 1311 Lyall Street, on Sunday, will be held at the chapel of Sands Mortuary, this afternoon, at 2 o'clock. Rev. W. R. Brown will officiate, and the remains will be laid at rest in Royal Oak Burial Park.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE

An estimate has been made of what unemployment insurance would cost Canada. It appears in an article in the Monthly Review of the Bank of Nova Scotia, no doubt inspired by the fact that it is possible an unemployment insurance measure will be introduced in Parliament next Session. The writer, taking the number of unemployed over a period of ten or twelve years, estimates that on an average about thirteen per cent of the workers would, in all probability, be out of work at any given time. The working force of the country is estimated at 2,350,000 workers of both sexes, so that there would be an average of 315,000 persons to be provided for out of unemployment insurance.
If the average benefit given were $5 a week, this would represent a weekly outlay of $1,575,000, or $82,000,000 for an average year. This would be exclusive of the cost of administering the unemployment insurance. The proposal is that the cost should, as in Britain, be split three ways, one-third being charged to the workers, one-third to the employers, and one-third to the state. The wages of employed workers would thus suffer deductions of from $28,000,000 to $30,000,000 annually and the labor cost of industry would have to undergo a similar deduction; the other one-third would have to be raised by taxation.
It was on a similar basis that Britain brought unemployment insurance into effect. The result, however, was not what was expected. The state found that it had to provide much larger sums than anticipated, sums which over a long period ran to $1,000,000 a week above the amount originally intended. The fact is that no scheme of unemployment insurance has been worked out on an actuarial basis. Its cost always exceeds original estimates.

RECOVERY IN THE EMPIRE

All financial and commercial indices in Britain point to trade recovery. Both imports and exports continue to expand. The surplus of imports is back to the 1932 level, mainly accounted for by raw materials. While imports have been increasing, exports are increasing at a greater rate. In commenting on Britain's progress towards recovery, it is also noted that the Empire as a whole is unmistakably better off than the rest of the world. South Africa is settling in full its war debt of $8,000,000 to Britain and has had its first budget surplus in many years. Australia's finances are in a healthier condition than for some time past, and the Government of that country, which has been following the road of economy, has just been sustained in power at a general election. Canada, because of geographical propinquity, shared many of the misfortunes of the United States, but is now more prosperous, relatively speaking, than the neighboring nation. The Manchester Sunday Chronicle says that once more a world crisis has tested the bonds of Empire and has ended by strengthening them, and that "the value of close association was never more apparent. In the trade war, as in the Great War, Britain and the Dominions present a united front."

MANUSCRIPT OF AN OLD ROMANCE

The recent discovery in England of the manuscript of Sir Thomas Malory's romance of "Morte d'Arthur" is one of the major events of this year's literary history. Printed by Caxton in 1485, "Morte d'Arthur" was the first presentation of the Arthurian legend in English speech. It is an abridged compilation of the romance of the legendary hero of ancient Britain as it had grown up through the preceding seven centuries and been sung in the baronial halls and taverns and market-places of Europe. Upon Malory's version and that of Geoffrey of Monmouth rests Tennyson's "Idylls of the King." It is the tale of King Arthur, the mythical hero, the fairy king, the chivalrous head of the Order of the Table Round, of Lancelot and Guinevere, of Galahad and Tristram of Lyonesse, and of the "Passing of Arthur."
"To the island-valley of Avilion,
Where I will heal me of my grievous wound."
Familiar as scholars have been with Malory's romance, the reputed author was a baffling figure. In fact, he was unknown except that Caxton had been the printer of his work, until Professor Kittredge unearthed a Sir Thomas Malory, of Newbold Revel, in Warwickshire, as the probable romancer. This Sir Thomas was a member of Parliament for Warwickshire, had served in France, had been twice arrested, was in prison in 1468, and died, according to his epitaph, in 1470. All this knowledge of him was tentative until a few weeks ago.
One day in June last a manuscript of "Morte d'Arthur" came to light in the Pelicans' Library in Winchester College. This yellowing parchment of four hundred years ago was written by the hand of Sir Thomas Malory, knight of Newbold Revel, in Warwickshire. Honor can now be done to whom honor is due.
Sir Thomas wrote a romance worthy of his royal soul. Its tone is higher than most of its predecessors; it glows with the warmth and beauty of the old knight's conception of chivalry and his love for the great deeds and the great men of the past. With a style that was simple, direct, idiomatic, musical yet dignified, he elevated the tone of the narrative and formed one of the chief compositions of English prose. It is certainly the best exhibit of English writing of the fifteenth century. One critic terms it "the first English prose epic." As a sample of the language of his day the following sentence may be quoted from the manuscript:
"So here leith of this booke, for hit is the first booke of Sir Tristram of Lyonesse, and the secunde booke begynnith where Sir Tristram smote down Kyng Arthur and Sir Uwayne."
It is notable that two great classics of English prose, one of the fifteenth century and the other of the seventeenth, were written in prison. Possibly because of his connection with the Wars of the Roses, Malory was not included in the general amnesty of Edward IV in 1468. "I pray you for him who redyth this tale," he pleads, "to pray for him that wrote this that God will send him deliverance some and hastily. Amen." John Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress" was written within the stone walls of Bedford jail.

Note and Comment

There are three classes of politicians—those who, under pressure of an election, seek for change, without the faculty of discerning to what change will inevitably lead; those who, in fact, of the political events and give unity to history—Brimley.

FINGER-PRINTS

Scotland Yard has been taking finger-prints for forty years, and now has a record of 500,000. There has been some discussion as to the origin of this method of identifying persons, but that origin seems to be lost in the mists of antiquity. In the East it was a custom from early times to make the impression of a monarch's thumb in the sign manual. The London Times says that "there is record of one Chinese Emperor who dug her thumb-nail deeply into the wax model of a seal brought for her approval, whereupon the designer tactfully included the mark as a crescent moon in his design." That paper points out that it is only in recent times that finger-prints have become the object of scientific study, and they were not classified until 1823. It was Sir William Herschel who first introduced finger-prints for the detection of crime.

Those who are credulous in the matter of fortune-telling will not have their credulity confirmed by the knowledge that scientists are not interested in the least by markings on the palm of the human hand. They know that the lines shown there cannot be interpreted as forecasting the future, whatever they may show in the matter of flexures of the past. The scientist is, however, keenly interested in finger lines. Here is what The London Times says of these:
"He (the man of science) has classified them as arches, whorls, loops and composites, with many subdivisions; and owing to the permanency of pattern in any one individual from infancy to dotage, and the variation in pattern from individual to individual, even from twin to twin, he is prepared to stand by them as a test of identity. Hence it comes that the criminal, with 'forced fingers rude,' is now compelled to give society an assurance for his future good behavior, or at least for his future apprehension. No longer may he emulate the dying Falstaff; 'play with the flowers' he may still do, and even 'fumble with the sheets' (if the occupant is far enough away in the land of Nod), but it needs a very bold law-breaker in these days to 'smile upon his fingers ends.' It is a chastening thought to those who do not feel wholly outside temptation's reach that Scotland Yard, where the system is on the eve of its fortieth birthday, has the finger-prints of some half-million of us."

MEMORY'S CASSET OF FRAGRANCE

A scent of hawthorn gladly steals
In my mind from olden days—
From a far-off wood, where heath white boughs
We ran in wondrous May.
Those perfumes careful Memory stores,
Fair keepers of the flowers;
As travelers they o'er the miles and years
To tell of the morning hours.
I catch the breath of snow-dew sweet—
At the burn like a meadow sweet;
And of red wild-thyme—just as when
O'er green sea-banks it blew.
A dream of honeysuckle flows,
So faint, I soon behold
Quaint country house and the dusty hedge
Crowned above with pink and gold.
Wild roses seem to charm—a breeze,
From yon village it must have strayed;
There the roses climbed, the red and white,
The place they sunny made.
A fragrant zephyr blown in my thoughts,
Even on rainy days brings near
Green fields and blue sky, the golden sands,
While the laughing sea I hear.
R. T. Bird, in The Weekly Scotsman.
Why, one that rode to his execution, man,
Could never go so slow. —Shakespeare.
A day, an hour of virtuous liberty
Is worth a whole eternity in bondage. —Addison.
'Tis cruel to prolong pain and to defer a joy—Sir C. Sedley.

SHOULD FOSTER BRITISH IDEALS

James Gibson Pictures Europe With Possible Outlook for Its Nations

Speaking on the subject of "Sunlight and Shadow Over Europe," James Gibson, British Columbia Rhodes Scholar, who, during the past few years, had had the opportunity of visiting different parts of the continent of which he spoke, gave his impressions drawn from personal contact with the various countries. The speaker spoke of the wonderful experience obtained by attendance at the University of Oxford, where the atmosphere intellectually was incomparable.

Dealing with Germany, Mr. Gibson said that the effect of the movement headed by Hitler had been to push aside freedom of expression among the people. The result had been serious, he felt, and the German people were left unable to think for themselves. There had been obliterated freedom of religion and the press had its power practically eliminated.

The people were discouraged from doing any political thinking for themselves. The effect was seen in the withdrawal of the German Republic from the Disarmament Conference when it looked as if there was good reason to believe that something might be accomplished in this respect. The withdrawal of Germany from the League of Nations was also an instance of this exercise of autocratic power.

SAVED FROM COMMUNISM
In an economic way, the Nazi had done much. It perhaps had saved Germany from Communism.

In Italy, the speaker found somewhat similar conditions in the stamping out of freedom of action. The newspapers there were brought into line with the ideas of the Government, and the universities had departed from the objective of finding out truth. The great bulk of people in Italy had no real interest outside of the country. Italy, however, was not a danger to Europe.

In contrast to this, the University of Oxford stood out as the place where they were taught to think for themselves.

Austria was trying to keep itself from domination. Poland was trying to build up some of its former

CULBERTSON on CONTRACT

By Ely Culbertson
World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

OUT-GUESSING ONE'S PARTNER

The feeling existing between two partners should be one of co-operation. The player that fate has chosen to face you for any given rubber should be treated not as an enemy who must be out-guessed, and out-manoeuvred, but as an ally who at the moment has the same mission in life as you.

However, to prove that even this rule has its exception, I saw a most unusual incident take place the other day. The South player, as a result of having made a shaded bid on an early round, suddenly found himself in a position where he had to think of a way of out-guessing his partner, and thus preventing that player from making what would normally be a sound and correct bid, but what in this instance would force the North and South partnership to too high a contract. South did this in a most unconventional albeit ingenious way.

East, dealer.

North and South vulnerable.

1. A minimum takeout double, but with very fine support for both majors, South cannot be greatly criticized for choosing the double rather than the simple overcall, despite the fact that the hand contains a bare three honor tricks.

2. A deliberate shut-out and quite an overbid at that. West merely wishes to make it hard for the opponents to get together at their best final contract. He hopes that by cutting out several rounds of bidding he will make North and South get either too high or not high enough.

3. Melodramatic, but sound. With a partner who has made a vulnerable double, North is naturally interested in a slam in one of the major suits. North realizes that if he bids only four hearts or four spades, the bidding will probably die there and he will thus not have a chance to show both suits. He decides, therefore, to force his partner to pick the suit, after which he himself can raise it to six. Although the five-club bid is a lie in that North cannot control the first round of the suit, the lie is of the "little white" variety.

4. South knows his partner to be a very liberal bidder who usually does not allow much leeway and who would not allow for a possibly shaded takeout double. He also knows the meaning of North's bid and knows he can bid five of either major suit in safety, but he fears that the moment he bids five North will bid six, and realizes from his own hand that this contract almost certainly cannot be made. South, therefore, decides to take a gambling chance to get out at a makeable contract. He decides that if he can get his partner to bid five of one of the majors that will give him (South) the last say and a chance to pass. The only way to do this, of course, is to make a bid under five hearts or five spades, and the only possible bid is five diamonds. Of course, if North passes, this will be most disastrous. But from the way the bidding has proceeded, South is practically certain that North has both major suits, and that the latter, knowing that South must have at least one of the majors himself, will certainly show his best major over five diamonds. Although he knows he is playing with fire, South goes ahead with his plan.

5. I don't know whether, when North bid five hearts, he knew what his partner was doing or whether he just wanted to deny diamonds. I do think, however, that five hearts was North's correct bid for a combination of the above reasons. On this most unusual bidding I believe an imaginative North player should suspect that his partner is passing the buck back and asking him to choose the major suit, as it is most unlikely that South's double was predicated on a good, long diamond suit and only indifferent major suit support.

6. South has achieved the result he was looking for. By adroit manipulation he has succeeded in trapping his own partner. He has forced the latter to show the suit and give South himself the last say. This last say, of course, is a pass.

Obviously the two minor suit aces had to be lost on the hand and a contract of six would have gone down to defeat.

I heard South ask his partner after the hand what he would have done if the response to his five-club bid had been five spades instead of five diamonds. North answered that he would unquestionably have bid six. It would seem, therefore, that South's dangerous bit of trickery was most necessary to keep the partnership out of the stratosphere.

ANNIVERSARY IS OBSERVED

Association of Canadian Clubs Reaches Quarter-Century Mark

Throughout Canada hundreds of Canadian Clubs during the week-end observed the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Association of Canadian Clubs, of which the Men's and Women's Canadian Clubs of Victoria are members.

The Victoria men's club is older than the national association, while the women's branch is exactly the same age. It was in September, 1909, that representatives of about a dozen of the forty clubs then existing met in Montreal in what became the first conference of the association. The object was to knit the various clubs more closely together so that they could take concerted action along the lines on which they were founded. An effort to accomplish this had previously been made in 1899, but the result was only a loosely-knit organization with no central secretariat.

PLACE OF ORIGIN

The final steps in organization were taken in 1925 and 1926, when a permanent office was established in Ottawa, and a full-time national secretary was appointed to co-ordinate the work of the clubs under the direction of a national executive committee of members drawn from every part of Canada. This committee meets at Ottawa three or four times annually.

The Canadian Club movement had its origin in Hamilton in 1902, when the Canadian Club of Hamilton was founded by an enterprising group of Hamiltonians. This was the first of more than 100 men's and women's Canadian Clubs, which are now scattered throughout the Dominion. They form, in their affiliation with the Association of Canadian Clubs, the largest voluntary cultural organization in Canada. Varying in membership from the 2,500 in Montreal to the twenty or thirty who make up the clubs of the smaller towns, the movement is now now has a membership of more than 30,000.

FIRST CLUB HERE
In Victoria, the Men's Canadian Club first met in December, 1906, and held its first annual meeting in 1907. Frank I. Clark was its first secretary, and the late A. W. McCurdy its first president. Since 1910, however, Frank J. Selk has been the secretary, and still holds the post, having been in office only one year short of the quarter-century mark, which the national organization is now celebrating. Herbert Anscomb, M.P.P., is now president of the club. The Victoria men's branch started with a membership of approximately forty, and has been built up since then to a membership of 900.

The Victoria women's branch was organized on June 28, 1909, and had a membership of sixty-one, which has grown until now there are 1,000 members, and, to quote Mrs. Alfred Carmichael, the president, "we hope to have well over 1,000 before the close of the year." Mrs. E. C. Manning is the secretary of the Women's Canadian Club here, and she has filled the post with an efficiency that has done much to strengthen the organization.

CITY APPEALS TO TAXPAYERS

Urge Everyone to Meet Current Accounts and Avoid Penalty on Oct. 2

During the next two weeks a special appeal will be made to city property owners to make every effort to pay their current tax accounts before the penalty comes into effect on October 2. Ald. F. R. Brown, chairman of the finance committee, in commenting upon the encouraging increase in receipts in the prepayment accounts and tax arrears, said that if current accounts also would show a corresponding gain, the city financially would end the year in a sound position. It is with the object in view of avoiding any possible deficit that the appeal is being made. A de-

Mr. Porteous was first elected to the House of Commons in 1930. He is a director of the Sydney Mutual Fire Insurance Company, operates a farm near Owen Sound and is a member of the Kiltyle Agricultural Society and the Derby Showmen's Association.

Mr. Porteous said that the trend of business had normal really had reached the West so much as it had in Ontario.

"The progress in the East is somewhat slower than in the West, but is a real barometer for future business in the Western Provinces. There is a distinct increase of business, over a year ago, all through the eastern country. The effect of the Imperial trade agreements are beginning to be felt throughout the agricultural districts, which is reflected in stimulated business. There has been quite an appreciable decrease in the number of those on relief in the East, in some centres as high as 50 per cent," Mr. Porteous asserted.

"In my own constituency, and in Owen Sound, where I reside, the decrease has been a third of what it was eighteen months ago."

DISCUSSES NRA
 Mr. Porteous, on this Coast, still retains the conviction he has always had, that the NRA will not achieve what it set out to do. "Roosevelt set out to release a lot of money, with a view to directing it into the hands of the poorer class. The very opposite to this has resulted. The industrialists have got most of the new money, too," he declared, pointing out that after all, the solution appeared to be chiefly in recentralizing business.

The old individual competitive system, providing that it is not allowed to monopolize trade to the extent of reaping excessive profits from consumer, producer or those employed in the processing of the commodity, cannot be beaten," he said.

SOME FORM OF CODE
 "On the other hand, I believe that any successful business today is based on the principle of a code of control their business, and these businesses must be recognized as contributing to commercial effort," Mr. Porteous, during his visit to

SOPWITH AGAIN SEES
DEFENDER ASTERN

 provided him with a slightly faster boat than the United States has produced to date. Today's race over a triangular course, providing two broad reaches of ten miles each and a third to windward of ten miles, sailed in a smooth sea and moderate breeze, amply demonstrated this fact.

Because Endeavour established a new record for the triangular course as well as a new record for the windward leg in a cup series, it follows that she is the fastest, sweetest slooper afloat in the weather of today.

Sopwith won his second race at the start, when he, or more precisely Mrs. Sopwith, timed the starting signal more accurately than Vanderbilt. The latter, in his eagerness to get the weather berth, jibed for the line a trifle too soon. He succeeded in establishing himself in the weather berth, but in doing so he was forced to kill his way. Endeavour crossed the line like a thing alive, forging through the lee of the more slowly moving Rainbow.

Social Activities and Notes of Personal Interest

Community Centre Hub Of Social Activities

The first annual ball will be held by the Lake Hill Community Centre, on Wednesday, October 3, in the Community Hall, commemorating the twelfth anniversary of its founding.

A brief resume of the extent of the activities of the centre will give an idea of its variety and breadth. On February 25, 1922, a number of prominent residents of the district assembled at the residence of W. E. Peirce, Borden Street, to discuss ways and means of building a hall as a centre of social activities.

After several such meetings and much discussion, the present site, on North Quadra Street, was purchased from the Municipality of Saanich. On March 25, 1922, at a meeting at the home of the late C. L. Service, the necessary documents of incorporation were signed by the officers elected at this meeting and forwarded to the registrar.

CAMPAIGN FOR FUNDS

With the moral and financial support of the Lake Hill Women's Institute, and the residents of the district, a campaign was waged for funds, and a start was made in October, 1922, on the present entrance hall. This was a two-story building, kitchen facilities occupying the lower floor, and was completed and officially opened September 20, 1923, by the late Reeve Watson, of Saanich.

In this small hall, many concerts, card parties and dances were held the first winter, and a substantial addition to the funds attained.

In April and May, 1924, a May queen contest with four contestants was organized, and a real drive put on for funds. The result was most gratifying—around $1,000 being realized.

Construction work then started on the main hall, a two-story structure adjoining the original small hall.

SPORTS FOSTERED

The aim has always been to sponsor sports of all kinds, and in October, 1926, a carpet bowling club was formed. This club still occupies half of the lower floor of the main hall, has three carpets and a large membership. In the Capital City and District Carpet Bowling League tournaments, Lake Hill has always been one of the highest ranking clubs, there seldom being a year when one or more Lake Hill links was not head of its division, and for the last three years in succession the coveted men's championship singles has gone to Lake Hill.

This winter the club will run its own affairs under very favorable terms from the centre, as there is no attempt made by the management to divorce the sports entirely.

PARK LAID OUT

On completion of the sale of the Lake Hill bus line by Saanich to the late J. S. H. Matson, the profits from operation and sale of the service were put into park and recreation facilities for residents of the district, as these residents had guaranteed Saanich against loss in the operation of the service. A portion was devoted to providing a first-class bowling green on Reynolds Street, and on completion in July, 1930, was turned over to the Lake Hill Community Centre for a nominal yearly rental. A lawn bowling club was then formed and sponsored by the centre. A clubhouse was built, and last year one string of lights was installed over the green. The membership has increased steadily, till this year the lawn bowling club is operating its own facilities of the centre on the same favorable terms as the other affiliated sports.

GYMNASIUM ADDED

In December, 1929, the contract was let for a large gymnasium, adjoining and back of the main hall. Here, basketball, under the management of Walter Peddie, who has given unstintingly of his time and money to the game, has been encouraged and developed to a high degree of success, the Lake Hill team the last two years, having the following wins to their credit: 1932-33, O. J. Williams, with A. McCallum,

Women Taking Part in City Championship

Miss Flagg, Miss Peggy Hodgson, Miss Peggy Allen and Miss Mary Mackenzie-Grieve. The Victoria City golf tournament, which is being held at the Colwood Golf and Country Club this week, is attracting great interest, and in the above group are some of the participants photographed at the clubhouse. Miss Flagg, ladies' secretary; Miss Peggy Hodgson, of Colwood, who was the medalist (centre left); Miss Peggy Allen, of George Vale Club (seated), and Miss Mary Mackenzie-Grieve, of the Uplands Club (centre right).

33, Tolmie Cup for seniors; Women's Institute Cup for girls' team; B.C. Electric Cup for intermediates; the Pendray Play-off Cup; 1933-34, West Road Cup and Inspector Owen Cup for juniors.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

With card parties each Monday, a popular modern dance each Wednesday, an old-time dance each Saturday in the main hall, and five nights' use a week of the lower main floor by the carpet bowlers, it can be realized that the centre is a veritable hive of activity during the winter months, and a very distinct asset to the community.

The centre is operated by a board of six, elected at the annual meeting every January, consisting of a president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer and three directors.

The original board of the centre in 1922 was: President, W. E. Peirce; vice-president, J. Scott; recording secretary, H. A. Laycock; financial secretary, A. R. Lower; and treasurer, Mrs. G. L. Service. Later, the offices of the secretaries and treasurer were merged into one, and the board increased to six in number by electing three additional directors at the annual meetings. For 1934 the following constitute the board of management: President, T. W. Palmer; vice-president, A. F. Mitchell; secretary, treasurer, O. J. Williams, with A. McCallum,

T. F. Currie and W. E. Peirce, directors. It will be noted that the first president of the centre, W. E. Peirce, is still a member of the board.

A social committee, of which Mrs. T. F. Currie is the present convenor, is a hard-working and efficient organization, and were it not for their untiring efforts and hard work, the centre could not have reached its present high state of usefulness.

INSTITUTE HELPS

As it stands at present, the Lake Hill Community Centre represents an investment of at least $6,000, not including an immense amount of voluntary labor, all created through the original ideas and foresight of residents of the district. Any history of the centre would be incomplete without special recognition of the part played by that sterling organization, the Lake Hill Women's Institute, which has always been one of the chief mainstays of the centre, the members of which have always given ungrudgingly of both their time and money to the furtherance of the cause. The institute was organized about eleven years before the centre, and meeting place the lower floor of the original hall.

First United W.M.S.

An interesting and informative address was given by Mrs. J. S. McKay at the W.M.S. Auxiliary of the First United Church on Monday afternoon. The speaker has been a missionary in India for the past forty-four years and she gave an invitation to the audience to "Come with me to India." Then followed a graphic picture of the physical, national, social and religious life of the country—"India—a sister within the Empire." A "Stranger of Galilee" was sung by Miss Owen Lank. The treasurer, Mrs. A. A. Campbell, reported the quarterly contributions satisfactory, and Mrs. J. G. McFarlane, on behalf of the finance committee, thanked the auxiliary for the support thus far, and requested that the thank offering next month be given in a measure in keeping with the abundant harvest. Miss J. Rattray, convener of the literature committee, asked that magazines and cards be brought to the October meeting.

Chemists W.A.

The W.A. of St. Michael and All Angels' Church held a telephone bridge party recently, under the convener of Mrs. F. A. Clarke. The hostesses were Mrs. Saunders, Mrs. Elliott, Mrs. Heslop, Mrs. Atkinson, Miss Joy Lang and Mrs. Findlayson, and were assisted by Mrs. F. Work and Mrs. J. Russell Robinson. The prize-winners were: Contract, Mr. Saunders and Mrs. C. R. Jarrett; auction, Mrs. Laidlaw and Mr. Douglas Strilag. Four tables of whist were also in play, the winners being Mrs. Cave and Miss E. Payne. Returns and donations will add over $55.00 to the Parish Room fund.

St. Andrew's W.M.S.

The monthly meeting of St. Andrew's Presbyterian W.M.S. was held on Monday afternoon, in the lecture room. The devotional period was taken by Mrs. J. A. Kennedy and Mrs. M. C. Fuller. Papers of W.M.S. work in Ontario for the past seventy years were given by Mrs. G. A. Lister and Mrs. J. Scroggie. Mrs. H. P. S. Lattrell read an article, "Postulate of Peace," from the British Weekly. It was decided to hold the annual thankoffering meeting some time in October, in the form of a birthday party and have home helpers as guests.

Klondike Night Promises to Be One of Hilarity

On Thursday night in the Parish Hall, at 8:30 o'clock, the pages of time will be turned back to a scene of gay frivolity during the Klondike gold rush days of '97, when "Klondike Night" is staged by the Catholic Young People's Club.

The main room will be devoted to "jitter dances," to the strains of a real old sourdough band. The boys will be attired in the style of the period, macinaw, hobnail boots, and miscellaneous gay trappings.

What is expected to be one of the main attractions is the bar, where root beer and soft drinks will be dispensed to help quench the thirst of the opulent "fun seekers." Not the least of the attractions will be the refreshment counter, where a competent chef will cater to healthy appetites whetted by hard work in the goldfields.

All the members and their friends are requested to dress in old clothes as representative of the Klondike period as possible. No admission will be charged at the door.

"If you wash your face I'll give you a piece of candy," said grandmother. "And if you wash behind the ears I'll give you two pieces." "Grandma," replied little Johnny, "maybe I'd better have a bath."

He stressed Russia's will to peace. Nations were not becalmed by assurances of peaceful intention, especially in those places which were accustomed to expect aggression.

"We should establish that any state is entitled to demand from its neighbors the guarantee of its security, and such a demand should not be regarded as an expression of distrust."

"From now on, the will to peace of the Soviet Union, with its 170,000,000 inhabitants—peace for itself and for other states—will make itself felt as a powerful factor."

In a brief preceding debate, President Eamon de Valera of the Irish Free State again raised the question of religious persecution in Russia. Hundreds of millions of Christians, he said, believed that to deprive a man of his religion was to deprive him of his meaning.

Litvinoff had not arrived when de Valera spoke, and in his speech, the Russian made no reference to de Valera's plea.

The flashlights flared as Litvinoff concluded his own address, and cameras clicked as the Russian stepped into a waiting car. The great day was over.

SUPERIOR GOLD PUTS IN MILL

To Be Completed and Operating by October 1, Reports State

Superior Gold Mines, who recently acquired the old Providence Mines, comprising about fifty acres near Greenwood, B.C., announces that a fifty-ton mill is now being installed on the property to be completed and operating by the first week in October. It is stated that all other equipment, such as air compressors, etc., is on the property, sufficient to employ twenty-five men.

M. M. Reese, consulting engineer of Seattle, is in charge of operations of Superior Gold Mines at Greenwood, both the North Star and the Providence.

This company also owns and operates six producing wells in the State of Montana and equipment estimated to be worth $150,000, with a net production of about 3,000 barrels per month.

OPPORTUNITY IN STONES
In reporting to directors regarding the Providence mine, Mr. Reese states that the vein has been mined for over 1,000 ft. in length along the strike above the 400 ft. level. He states that no ore remains unmined above the 400 ft. level, and "the only possibility is in the material left in the stopes that could be drawn for milling, as, for instance, a sample of the finds from the 300 ft. stopes south gave $7.88 per ton gold and silver."

Mr. Reese reports that there are about 10,000 tons of broken ore left in the stopes which sampling showed to average $3.82 per ton. The large dump contained 18,078 tons of broken ore averaging $3.75 per ton. The lower dump contains 440 tons averaging $7.14 per ton. Mr. Reese desires that milling grade of $4.80 to $5 per ton can be maintained out of the broken ore.

This would give a total value of ore in place and broken amounting to $224,971.

News of Mines

By Bie & Co. Ltd.

Pickle Crow—The work to date has centred upon three levels at 125, 250 and 375 feet in depth. Width of ore so far developed is 30 inches and averaging approximately $50 per ton. Length disclosed so far is 1,000 feet, and all indications point to greater length. The 203 drift averages $1.11 per ton over a width of 38 inches and length of 485 feet, so far opened in that one drift. The 275 feet so far opened at this second level averages $3.88 per ton across nearly 3 feet in width. Mill machinery is being transported to the mine designed to begin production early in 1935, at rate of 1,800,000 a year. On this basis profits of over 1,250,000 a year are indicated. The plant is so designed to double the initial capacity.

Teck-Hughes has started a new policy of drawing upon higher grade ore, which will increase profits and decrease life of mine. This change is due to the problem of raising large quantities of low-grade ore at a depth of over a mile.

Lake Shore broke all records during the fiscal year ended August 31, when the company realized a net profit of over $10,000,000. This is the largest net profit ever realized by any individual gold mine in the history of the world. This amounted to over $5.00 per share annually on the issued stock of the company. The net result is that dividends at least $1.00 per share quarterly are pretty well assured.

Lake Shore officially announces one more important feature, namely, that at the 4,500 foot level over 90 per cent of the drifting so far done on the south of No. 1 vein has been in ore, and that the average grade across the width of the drift exceeds $31.00 in gold per ton.

Paymaster—Mining operations will start some time this month by Paymaster Consolidated, it was announced by President A. Fuller at the annual meeting. Capacity of the mill is about 100 tons daily. Sampling at the Dome Lake or main shaft indicated 10,000 tons of $9 ore, while at the Helms shaft 35,000 tons of $11 ore are shown. Within the past month the ore dump at the Dome Lake shaft was sampled, indicating 6,000 tons of $9 ore, which will be used for initial milling purposes.

Howey has considerable ore in the easterly workings, where the gold content exceeds $4.00 per ton, or more than double the average elsewhere in the mine.

Noble Five Mines, Limited—Five tons of ore taken from slope on Drift No. 1 south, on Alhambra property assay 2.55 ounces per ton. The vein is 18 inches wide mineralized with lead and zinc sulphides. This stopes continued southerly along the vein will shortly cross the contact of the granite and the Rossland volcanics, where the richest ore of this property was mined. Drift No. 1 north, west of the shaft, has been advanced northerly 20 feet, with a width of 1 foot. Assays of ore sorted from this work give 3.2 ounces per ton in gold. Officials expect that the first car of ore from this new work will be ready for shipment, this week, and that regular shipments will be maintained. This grade of ore, it is pointed out, will net a good profit over all costs. Work is under direction of W. C. Norrie-Loewenthal. No. 2 tunnel is cleaned and re-timbered to the face and connected with the compressor by a four-inch pipe line. Drills started work on this level August 31. A combined ore bin and sorting building has been erected at the portal of No. 2 tunnel.

Vidette Production—During the month of August, production at Vidette Gold Mines was 618 tons of ore, giving 353 ounces of gold and 780 ounces of silver.

BOUGHT PLAYMATE

SEATTLE—While Jack Steen, seventeen, rowed a launch on the Puget Sound, he was startled by a plaintive cry. It was a baby seal, trying to climb into the boat. Jack helped the youngster in. Later when he went swimming, the seal paddled through the water at his side. It swam out to sea again, after playing with the boy nearly half a day.

GRANGE MINE IS GETTING VALUES

News has been received from the Grange Mine on the Fraser at the mouth of Kelly Creek indicating the foot wall and hanging wall streak of high grade quartz have formed a junction in the north drift on the No. 6 level with a vein ten feet wide.

It is understood that the company's mining engineer, A. J. Gaul, is going to the main shortly to make a thorough investigation. Assays taken, it is reported, have shown values of over two ounces to the ton. The thirty-ton mill is ready to resume operations after the installing of a new classifier. A new mill is on order and should be delivered within the next few weeks. After this has been installed the capacity of the plant will be brought up to sixty tons a day.

VELVET MAKING ORE SHIPMENTS

The Velvet Mine, located about ten miles from Rossland on the Rossland-Cascade Highway, which old property was among the discoveries of the early days, and is being operated by the Velvet Gold Mining Company, of Seattle, Washington, is continuing shipments to the smelter at Tacoma, Washington. Two trucks operated by Frank Hyatt are kept busy transporting ore from the mine via Sheep Creek road to Northport, where the ore is loaded on Great Northern Railway cars for transport.

About twenty men are on the payroll at the Velvet, the work at present being the sinking of a new shaft, which is down about 100 feet. From this shaft a drift will be run to contact some of the veins as yet untouched. When this work is finished, it is expected the output from the Velvet will be increased very materially.

WAYSIDE WILL CONSTRUCT MILL

Directors Decide on Pilot to Fifty-Two Tons Capacity and Sink to Fifth Level

Directors of Wayside Consolidated Gold Mines, which was recently much in the spotlight following disappointing reports made by Ira B. Jorlemore and Colonel F. Yuill, have decided on the immediate construction of a pilot mill, of 50-ton capacity, which has been urged by David Sloan and Frank Eichelberger, New York promoters of the property. It was also decided to sink on ore from the fifth level to intersect at 100 feet one-half ounce ore found in diamond drill holes and mentioned in the Yuill examination. The mill is now being assembled, according to P. R. Ritchie, managing director of Wayside, and it is expected to have it in operation in sixty days.

The investigation brought on by the Wayside Protective Committee is at present being conducted by Commissioner Fraser, of Vancouver, B.C., representing the British Columbia Government.

DISCOVER QUARTZ ON THE NECHAKO

Considerable interest was shown during the week-end over the news that the Victoria Company which has obtained dredging leases on the Nechako River above Prince George had struck a ledge of quartz. In the prospecting of the river banks the leases have been sinking a number of test-pits, and it was in one of these the ledge was encountered. A couple of shots will be put into the ledge to determine the values carried by the quartz. The work of sinking the test-pits is reported to have been uniformly encouraging. The quartz ledge was discovered some four or five miles above Prince George, and the leases will have the water of the river to contend with in their sampling operations.

MINE STOCK INDEX

RELIEVING A GAS ATTACK IN THE INTESTINE

There is nothing that is much more distressing or alarming as the ordinary "gas" attack, sometimes called intestinal colic. The pain is very severe, and the heart is sometimes crowded so that its power and regularity is interfered with owing to the pressure from the gas. The gas may be in the stomach or intestine and may shift from one part to another.

It is this moving or shifting that enables you to know that the pain is likely due to gas, even though it is in the region of the appendix. The pain in appendicitis usually starts in region of the stomach and then moves to lower right side and remains there.

While the possible causes of the gas should be investigated, your first thought is how to get relief and get it quickly.

Ordinary baking soda helps a great many cases, as does also the various preparations containing soda, lime, blismuth and other alkalis.

The old-fashioned soap and water enema—the injection of a pint or quart of warm water and soap suds—gives relief in most cases, as it dislodges the "gas pocket" and relieves the pain. An enema of warm water without the soap is about as effective and does not irritate the lining of the bowel.

One of the annoying after-effects of an operation is the accumulation of gas in the intestine and also in the stomach which causes the patient great distress just when he needs rest and comfort. This is such a serious matter that in many hospitals an anaesthetic into the spine is more frequently given than either other anaesthetics breathed into the lungs.

It is interesting to know that Dr. Charles Mayo, of the Mayo Clinic, advises injections of warm milk and molasses where the gas is moving up or down. Half a pint of warm milk, containing two or three tablespoonfuls of molasses is injected up into the rectum—lower bowel—every three or four hours. While this injection is not irritating, it makes the muscles of the intestine act and causes the gas to move in most cases.

This is a simple remedy, as milk and molasses are readily obtained.

DeWitt Wing tells about the young woman who had two beaux and couldn't make up her mind which one to marry. When questioned, she answered: "Sometimes I like one as much as the other and more, and sometimes I'd like marry one as the other and rather."

HOLIDAY IS PROCLAIMED

Clydebank Will Be En Fete for Launching of Cunarder Next Wednesday

GLASGOW, Sept. 18 (CP).—They will come from all over the world for the launching of the giant Cunarder 534—to be christened the Britannic—on September 28.

The super-ship, of 73,000 tons, is designed to assure British maritime supremacy without any doubt. With horsepower of somewhat under 200,000, compared with 72,000 for the Mauretania, long the greyhound of the Atlantic, the new giant of the seas is expected to bring the speed records back to the Old Country.

It will be a public holiday in Glasgow, and a great day for British shipping all over the world. The 534 enters her element. The King and Queen will attend. The Queen christening the ship, among hundreds of thousands. There will be several enclosures holding many spectators, along with a floating grandstand in the shape of the liner, Tuscania.

TREMENDOUS JOB
Getting the 534, as she is still officially designated, into the water is a tremendous job in itself. Great steel drag chains and launching devices are already in place, hundreds of tons of oil and grease have been spread on the ways and the hull. Special guards have been erected to prevent injuries from flying blocks and splinters.

The right of way on the opposite bank is being closed, because the 534 is going to make some splash, and a giant wave may be set up. Once in the water, a boom will be put around her to prevent injury to the hull from passing vessels. But providing there is no gale of wind the authorities do not anticipate any trouble.

The length of the vessel is 1,018 feet, and one of the promenade decks alone is 750 feet long. It is costing about $22,000,000, and it is necessary to spend $400,000 on dredging the river to make way for the launch.

WILL BE SPEEDY
Perhaps the most impressive thing about this new vessel of British shipbuilding is her speed. Although 230 feet longer than the Mauretania, and 30,000 tons heavier than the Hood, the world's heaviest battleship, the 534 is expected to make thirty knots, which is good speed for a fast cruiser.

A special suite of rooms has been fixed up for Their Majesties in the shipbuilding yards of John Brown & Company. Arrangements have been made to handle the flow of press traffic to all parts of the world. Railway and bus services are organizing special excursions.

Airway's Plane Commences Fall Schedule Today

DISCONTINUING the two round trips which it has been providing between Victoria and Vancouver for some time, the service of Canadian Airways across the Gulf of Georgia will begin its fall and winter schedule today. Wallace Courtney, of the Northern Pacific office, agent for the flying company, stated yesterday afternoon. The plane will make one round trip each day, leaving Vancouver at 9:30 o'clock in the morning. Arriving here at 10:15 o'clock, it will leave again for the Mainland city at 4 o'clock, reaching Vancouver at 4:45 o'clock. The plane will carry passengers, mails and express.

from all parts of the country, and distinguished visitors will be on hand from abroad. Once in the water, of course, there remains a tremendous amount of work to be done on the vessel. Her interiors are being designed to outlive anything afloat, and it is expected she will not be ready for service until about two years hence.

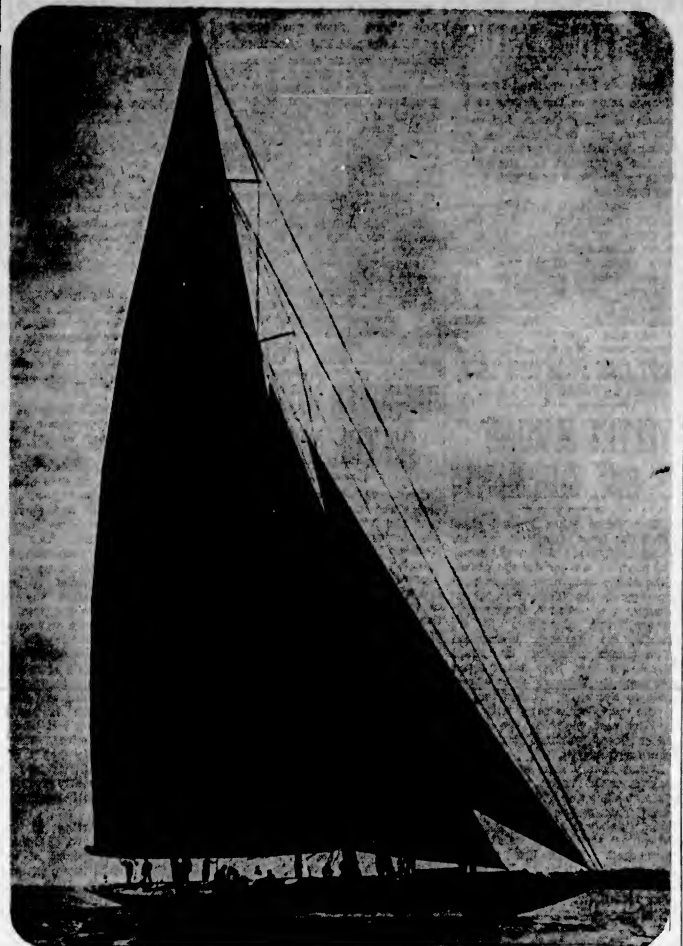

COAST LINER SAILS SOUTH

H. F. Alexander Away—Jefferson and Drechtyk Due Tomorrow

On her way to San Francisco and Alameda, the Pacific Steamship Lines S.S. H. F. Alexander sailed from Rithet Piers at 10 o'clock last evening with a large passenger list and considerable cargo aboard. The liner arrived alongside the local docks at 8 o'clock, embarking a number of Island and Mainland travelers going South. Included in the liner's cargo was a quantity of raw silk left here Sunday evening by the Blue Funnel Line S.S. Tallihy, and some 600 cases of whisky from New Westminster.

Passengers booked at the local office of the steamship company for the H. F. Alexander included: Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Clayton, Mr. and Mrs. F. Jordan, Mr. and Mrs. B. Walton, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Endeavour Wins Second Race for Cup

The challenger, with two races to her credit in the series for America's Cup, is now a decided favorite in the betting; and while there is a possible chance that Rainbow can still win four out of the remaining five races, it is hardly probable. Both boats are pretty evenly matched, being built close to the limit of a rule; and there is not much to choose between the British boat, designed by Nicholson, and the United States craft, Rainbow, designed by Burgess. According to detailed reports of the races, Endeavour is being more expertly handled than any challenger ever to compete for the historic trophy; and if Sopwith can manage to win two more races in the series, Nicholson will come into some of his own at last, for he has created some beautiful racing craft, Endeavour being a masterpiece.

the local office of the American Mail Line from the S.S. President Jefferson yesterday afternoon. It will be some time after midnight this date before the liner leaves Rithet Piers inbound from the Philippine Islands by way of China and Japan ports. The liner is almost two days behind time, and is bringing in a small passenger list and a heavy cargo. She will proceed to Seattle on completing business here.

Inbound from Rotterdam and London, the Holland-America Line S.S. Drechtyk is looked for tomorrow morning by Adam P. Moffat, local agent of the company. The Drechtyk will discharge nearly 300 tons of general cargo here, and, before proceeding to Mainland ports, will load some frozen salmon and coopers stock for Europe. Capt. J. P. Wepster is master of the Drechtyk.

Mission Ship John Antle Coming for Several Days

COMING direct from Pender Harbor, the motorship John Antle, flagship of the Columbian Coast Mission of the Anglican Church, will arrive here Friday afternoon, according to Walter Miles, of the local mission committee. The ship will be in charge of Rev. John Antle, who brought her out from England, and whose name she bears. Ben Drew, secretary of the mission, will also be aboard.

The John Antle has been undergoing a number of alterations since the arrival on the Coast. Among other things, she has had a new set of engines installed. The boat will berth at the Belleville Street Docks, through the kindness of the management of the B.C. Coast Service of Canadian Pacific Steamships, and will remain in port until Monday afternoon next. During her stay here, the public is invited to inspect the John Antle.

Skipper Walters and Famous Schooner Treated Better at Chicago

MONTREAL, Sept. 18 (CP).—It hasn't been plain sailing at all for the famous schooner Bluenose since she left her home port of Lunenburg, N.S., and her ruddy-cheeked skipper Angus Walters runs the day he accepted the invitation to exhibit the pride of Nova Scotia's fishing fleet at the Chicago World's Fair and Toronto.

Bluenose slipped into harbor over the week-end, and is getting ready to clear, tomorrow, for the voyage home.

PUNGENT REMARKS
Captain Walters "blanketed" the Queen City under a series of pungent remarks, vowing he would never bring his ship back there "unless God blows her in that direction."

Not so long ago the famous Blue nose was the centre of attraction wherever she went. Now, said her captain, she hardly rates at all. The fault? The skipper says in Toronto the schooner wasn't even rated as a Canadian ship. "She was a Bolshevik vessel, so far as they were concerned," he observed.

WAS INVITED
Captain Walters said he would have much preferred to stay in Chicago. "But," he signed, "they invited me to Toronto, and now see what's happened." Lusty words accompanied each reference to To-

As though trouble over towing fees was not enough, Captain Walters recalled the intervention of the Lord's Day Alliance, which, he stated, put the crimps to further support from the citizenry.

All Departments Of Service Will Be Represented

WINNIPEG, Sept. 18.—Officers of Western lines of the Canadian Pacific Railway, representing practically every department from the Pacific Coast to Port William, will gather in Winnipeg on Tuesday, September 25, to attend a complimentary dinner to D. WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—The Secretary of War announced recently that 401 ocean vessels passed through the Panama Canal in August last year, 415 ocean vessels used the canal and paid $1,829,784 in tolls.

The number of ocean vessels passing through the Panama Canal in August this year was a reduction of eighteen compared with July, 1934.

FISHERMEN RESCUED

BORDON, P.E.I., Sept. 18 (CP).—Three fishermen trapped aboard a flaming motorboat were rescued by Lloyd Innish, of Summerside, about two miles off Borden. Claude Howatt, owner of the craft, said he and his two companions were hauling lobster traps when the gasoline exploded and set fire to the boat.

Arguments Raging Along Fistic Row Concerning Fight

Big Question Along Broadway Is Who Won McLarnin-Ross Welterweight Battle—Ross' Backers Burned Up Over Decision—Talking of Return Bout Already

By EDITH BRIEZE
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK, Sept. 18 (AP).—The big question along Broadway and the waterfront today, was who won the Jimmy McLarnin-Barney Ross welterweight championship fight. In pubs, cigar stores and pool rooms, the fight faithful gathered to agree or disagree with the decision that cost Ross his title, and once again placed the Vancouver Irishman in the glare of the fistic spotlight.

The pay-off was on McLarnin, but a number of fight writers at the ringside thought Ross should have had a draw.

While the arguments raged, the battered principals in the fifteen rounds of furious milling did quick fade-outs.

Ross, surrounded by relatives and handlers, flew by airplane to Chicago to spend the Jewish holiday, Yom Kippur, beginning at midnight. The new champion, who the manager of his hotel volunteered, ate five pounds of grapes for breakfast, and then went to nearby Westchester for two days of golf and relaxation.

Each carried away something to remember the other by. McLarnin's left eye was almost closed, which will not be so good for his putting, and Ross sported a nifty shiner, partly concealed by a pair of dark glasses, and a badly cut lip.

Art Winch and Sam Pain, major-domos of the Ross camp, remained in town to collect their end of the purse and start the ball rolling for a return match.

"We're all burned up over that decision," Pain said, "and we're demanding another go at McLarnin the minute Pop Foster will let him fight. We obliged Jimmy with a quick return bout, and we expect the same treatment."

WANTS RETURN BOUT
Manager Foster was a bit wary in committing himself on a return bout, although Jimmy said immediately after the fight that he is willing to accommodate Ross whenever a bout can be arranged. Foster would say nothing of a Chicago report that Mickey Farr, matchmaker for the Chicago Stadium, had wired a bid for an immediate return engagement in Ross' home town.

Security Prices Little Changed At Wall Street

NEW YORK, Sept. 18 (AP).—Stocks and United States Government securities displayed symptoms of convalescence today, but elsewhere the financial markets continued a dull routine. News of a stimulating character was scarce.

In the day's lethargic proceedings only 54,000 shares changed hands. Instead of the one-time mart of excitement and rapid-fire dealings, a Federal securities commission, visiting the exchange, found members passing the time playing checkers and working crossword puzzles.

Among few relatively lively shares, Paramount was a leader with an advance of 3-8 of a point. Other amusement stocks, such as Fox, Loew's and Warner Bros. also improved.

A rally of more than 2 points in U.S. Steel preferred helped brighten the market picture considerably.

Domestic, Government and prime investment bonds fluctuated within a narrow range on the bond market today. Changes were of minor importance.

In the foreign section, Argentine bonds gained up to 2 points.

Virginia Vane Says:

LIFE AND SOUL OF THE PARTY OFTEN BAD HOME-MAKER

Dear Virginia Vane: My husband complains that I am a disappointment to him, due to my lack of sportsmanship. I know that some women make the mistake of settling down too soon to domesticity, but can honestly say that I have tried to avoid this mistake.

I have tried to be a good sport on parties, entertain his friends and at the same time keep the house running smoothly. My husband admires the women who are always ready to stay up till the end of the party, even till four and five in the morning. I don't know how they do it. I do not suffer from ill-health but I honestly can't do my work the day after what my husband considers a good party.

I want to be just and to do the right thing. Is it that the "good sports" have more vitality than I have—and are able to be good sports and good housekeepers, too?—Young Wife.

Probably not. My guess is that if your husband wandered into the home of one of these good sports some fine morning, he'd receive a shock which might bring him to his senses.

I've seen some of the chronic good sports the morning after and I don't believe even their most ardent admirers would enjoy the spectacle. The life and soul of the party is discovered in bed, moaning slightly while a harassed husband vainly tries to cope with the breakfast situation on the one hand and comfort his prostrate spouse on the other.

The little fun-maker does not recover from her festivities early in the day. It is more often than not noon before she gets around to straightening out the disorder of her home. By dinner time she can be depended on to have at least concealed the evidence of slovenly house-keeping and to be putting up a fair show of good spirits in readiness for the next party.

But the tired business man, her fond husband, is no more satisfied with his darling, than is your own husband, Young Wife. No, the lord and master can be heard raising his voice in protest, even against the little woman who never been heard to say she wants to go home early. "Why don't my socks get mended? Why is it we can't give as good a dinner as the Browns give? Why don't you take a day off and get rid of some of the dirt under the radiators?"

Gay and charming as the good sport may be she can't hope to run her home and keep her husband happy on her ability to make whoopee. And the sooner a husband realizes that his wife can't be a perfect sport and a perfect housekeeper all at the same time, the more likely he is to enjoy life. For so long as he continues to nag the little woman about her shortcomings, just that much longer will he and she be completely at variance with each other. Tell your husband, Young Wife, that he only sees the party side of the ladies he admires so much. Remind him that if he had to live with them he might easily think up a whole new list of complaints.

And if reasoning won't do the trick, take a little time off and develop into a thoroughly good sport for a few nights. Do the party act in a big way and let some of the housekeeping slide. Stay up till the cows come home, if you're urged to, and then let friend husband find his own breakfast. These tactics may teach him what he so badly needs to learn—that no woman can be absolutely A1 at two jobs which are diametrically opposed to each other.

E.C.: I have the deepest sympathy for you—and because I have I am going to urge you to be a little more severe with your bride. I know the state of mind you're in and I know what a temptation it is to let principles go and to spoil her to death but for the sake of your job and your health you can't afford to do that.

Perhaps it would help you to stiffen your backbone if you felt that someone else thought you were justified in demanding fair treatment. I can tell you that you are justified. Unless you keep your health and work you cannot possibly provide for a more secure future. And unless you provide for that future your rather reckless little wife is going to grow dissatisfied.

So that you are working for both your interests when you demand that she respect your job and leave you free to tackle it. Her attitude is making you slack up. You're losing ambition. Try to explain to her that she has everything to gain by giving you an even break.

Point out to her that the housework is her job and that she, after all, is given so much more leisure time than you can possibly have—that it is the height of injustice for her to expect co-operation on the woman's part of the job.

Map out your life so that you can give her as much time as possible. Be as considerate and kind as you want to be. But lay down hard and fast rules right now about her duty as a wife and don't let any sentimental impulses make you waver. You might show her this answer. Sometimes the printed word has a beneficial effect on thoughtless young wives.
